Subject: Re: [Group] Permission for multi-user trail near dam

Todd,

The permissions required are internal from asset managers, reservoir engineers, security and legal. I wouldn't put a timescale on this at the moment but will do everything I can to keep things moving. The reservoir engineer who carried out the site visit is going to consider the implications of the path line particularly in relation to the aqueduct bridge and pipeline and write to me. He also suggested some changes to the route below the dam which Paul thought were do-able. I will press him for a response prior to our meetings later this month.

Subject: Permission for multi-user trail near dam

Hi Allan,

I wanted to clarify the permission that would be required for the multi-user trail close to the dam on Scottish Water land. I had heard that it may possibly take 12 months when the trail engineer was on site with Scottish Water?

I've had confirmation today from our Development Management team that planning permission would not be required for the trail. Was the 12 month guideline an internal SW procedure that needs to be done or was it possibly in case that planning permission was required?

07/10/2008

I look forward to your reply,

Kind regards,

Todd Brown
